Climate crisis: Feminist perspectives from Colombia

with Gabriela Franco and Juliana Andrade

Thursday, 12 October 2023, 17:00 (CEST)

(GMT-5: 10.00 a.m. Bogotá/Colombia)

Language: English

Registration via Zoom: <https://tinyurl.com/3javw53j>

Organized by: Südwind and WIDE, Austria

Gabriela Franco and Juliana Andrade will talk about the challenges for the climate movement in Colombia from ecofeminist perspectives against the backdrop of the long-running peace process.

Climate activist Gabriela Franco Prieto will tell the story of her personal journey into activism via the peace movement and give insights into her work with “Fridays For Future” Colombia, as well as the project “Pacto X El Clima”.

Young activist Juliana Andrade represents indigenous and campesino women in the “Women Weaving in Science” project, which expands women's opportunities for participation in decision-making spaces and strengthens the leadership roles of women and girls in the fight for climate justice.

Facilitation: Joachim Raich, climate justice spokesperson at Südwind

The event is part of the online talk series “The Climate Crisis and Feminist Southern Perspectives”, with a focus on loss and damages and feminist climate activism, by Südwind and WIDE.
